THE DEMONSTRATION LAST EVENING.—Early last evening an immense concourse of several thousands of the people from all parts of our State gathered on the West front of the State House. The vast multitude was addressed in eloquent, patriotic and soul-stirring speeches by Hon. S. S. Cox, J. Mcweeney, Esq., Gov. Medary, Judge Thurman and others.

The speeches were received with enthusiasm by the people, and as each speaker vindicated the rights of the citizen and asserted the great principles of liberty and justice guaranteed by the Constitution and the Union our fathers made, response followed response, and cheer after cheer arose from the assembled thousands. The speaking was continued till a late hour, and everything passed off quietly and in good order. It was evident to the most careless observer that the people were in earnest; that their coming together was not the mere ebullition of passion or temporary excitement; but resulted from a fixed and settled determination to maintain their rights and liberties and to preserve the Constitution and the Union at any cost and at every hazard.

TELEGRAPHIC.

REPORT FOR THE STATESMAN

Last Night's Dispatches.

Important News from Gen. Grant. PHILADELPHIA, June 11.—The following has been received here by mail from Washington: WASHINGTON, June 10.—Two dispatches were received to-night from Grant, addressed to different gentlemen, in his official position. The dispatches are dated Monday, a much shorter time in obtaining advice from Vicksburg than heretofore. An important fact, and one which has occasioned much anxiety, is derived from them, namely: that General Grant was in communication with General Banks as late as the 4th inst., at which time Fort Hudson was closely invested.

Gen. Grant reports that Gen. Johnston is concentrating troops to operate against him, and mentions a report that three divisions are moving from Gen. Gregg to reinforce Johnston. Gen. Breckinridge is known to have joined him. Vicksburg is still closely invested, and the siege is progressing favorably.

The tone of the dispatches is represented to be such as to show that he fears neither the enemy in his front nor rear. It is presumed that he didn't know, at the date of his telegram, whether or not he was to be reinforced.

This information inspires increased hope and confidence in the final success of the siege.

Bold Rebel Cavalry Dash.

WASHINGTON, June 11.—The following official telegram was received this P. M.: POOLSVILLE, June 11.—Rebel cavalry came across the river this morning at daylight, about twenty-five hundred strong. They dashed rapidly up the towpath, driving in our patrols, and attacking the 6th Michigan cavalry, who were on picket duty at Seneca. Our forces fell back, pursued by the enemy, to within three miles of Poolsville. The enemy then retreated to Seneca, burned the camp of the Michigan cavalry, returned down the towpath, and recrossed the river. We lost four men killed and one badly wounded. The enemy left on the field one Lieutenant and one man killed.

From Vicksburg.

New York, June 11.—The Tribune says: We have a letter from our correspondent "Xenophon," at Vicksburg, to the 8th inst. He gives a hopeful view of the progress of the siege, and reports the repulse of a sortie gained once of our mining parties, on the night of the 3d, which demonstrates that Joe Johnston cannot hold the 6th Michigan cavalry, who were without being extinguished, and says that the garrison will soon be compelled by famine to capitulate.

Rebels attack Milliken's Bend and Young's Point.

WASHINGTON, June 11.—An official telegram from the vicinity of Vicksburg, received to-day, says the rebels in small force attacked Milliken's Bend and Young's Point on the 5th, but were decisively repulsed at both points. The colored troops at the former place at first gave way, but upon hearing that those of their number who were captured were killed, they rallied with great fury and routed the enemy. Advances to the 4th inst. have been received from Fort Hudson. Everything there looked favorable to our final success.

New York, June 11.—The Post says: a committee of citizens who recently visited Washington to lay before the President the project of raising a division of ten thousand colored soldiers, report that he fully approved the proposition, only regretting that the fact did not warrant them in asking authority to raise one hundred thousand, and declaring himself ready, as soon as sufficient number could be raised, to make them a part of a command for General Fremont. If it should be deemed expedient he would create a department especially for Fremont, so as to enable him to carry out his combination of white and black regiments. A series of public meetings in the rural counties are to be held to initiate the measure.

New York, June 11.—A Washington special to the Post says: WASHINGTON, June 11.—It has been ascertained that the rebel cavalry at Colpepper so severely handled in the late engagement, is now supplied by large bodies of infantry and heavy artillery. We have nothing further in reference to the recent fight.

It is announced the Government will give the Enrollment act the most liberal construction that may be possible.
